Since 2013, Sarasota Parrot Conservatory has developed and utilizes the first Avian Therapy Program in Florida to assist military veterans suffering from the effects of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. Currently, we offer other animal assisted intervention programs to the community in a tranquil and healing environment at our sanctuary. These personal up close encounters with some of our wonderful animals, over time has proven the healing effects of animal assisted intervention.

Our organization works with the community to bring our outreach programs to senior centers, schools and community events. We also work with teenagers looking to gain community service hours for college scholarships here in Florida through the Bright Futures Program.
